

PENETRATION TESTS

UniTrust utilises the independent services of the Security Watchdog to test the vigilance of their security officers. A Watchdog Auditor will attempt to gain unauthorised access to a site, using entirely conventional methods at any time of the day, night, weekend or bank holiday. It could be by the use of a false ID card, tailgating an existing employee or even masquerading as another contractor. Assuming the officer is successful in preventing entry he/she is awarded the Silver Fox tiepin as a mark of their achievement.

Well done to the following employees: -

- Nash Miric based at Charles Street
- Jenale Somaskanthan based at Argent
- Muhammad Haider and Lazar Lazarov based at GSK in Slough

A penetration test was carried out by the Security Watchdog on their site and we are pleased to advise that the auditor did not manage to gain entry.

The above Officers successfully stopped the Security Watchdog gaining entry to their sites over the last few months and can be seen above receiving their Silver Fox tie pins.
